Subject: RE: Savings following re-classification

Hi Philip,

BETA underwriting advised that they are still working this through their system, so they don't have the final calculations available. I went ahead and plugged in the rates from renewal into our calculation template and I would estimate conservatively that the savings is $3,500, but it's likely a bit more than that. I hope that helps and I am pushing to have a firm number over to you by end of month.

Thanks!

Good afternoon Rachelle and Dan,

Would one of you please advise as to amount of savings we received following reclassification of administrative staff due to new address?

A board member is inquiring.

Thank you.
